DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The objection to the disclosure with regard to the abstract, outlined in the previous Office Action, has been overcome by applicant's amendment. The amendment supplies an acceptable abstract.

Double Patenting

The provisional double patenting rejection under 35 USC 101 of claims 1 and 67-83, outlined in the previous Office Action, is withdrawn. Applicant is correct that claims, with the exception of claim 53 and its dependent claims, in the 10/391,216 application had been canceled by the preliminary amendments in that application. The examiner regrets the error. (In a further amendment, claim 53 and its dependent claims were canceled and replaced by new claims 87-105).

In any case, the instant claims do not read on the pending immunogen-encoding polynucleotide based methods of the 10/391,216 application. The method claims of the instant application and 10/391,216 encompass two different approaches to the prophylactic or therapeutic treatment of infections, for instance. Nor would it have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the methods of the 10/391,216 application in order to arrive at that of those instant invention. There is no motivation to do so.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1 and 67-83 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The closest prior art appears to be WO 97/19675, cited by the applicant in the IDS, which teaches complex cationic lipids having a derivated quaternary ammonium head group that provide cell targeting ability and enhanced efficacy for negatively charged molecules (abstract). The instant adjuvant composition is neither taught nor suggested, however. Nor would it have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the teachings of the prior art in order to arrive at those of the instant invention. There is no motivation to do so.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
